ABOUT ME

I don't want to define myself by the skills that I've learned. I define myself by the attitude that I have towards learning them. Skills can be taught, personality is inherent. I prefer to keep learning, continue challenging myself, and do interesting things that matter.

A strong Full Stack Developer that specialized in Back-End development. Proficient at working independently and also highly experienced at managing and teaching developers. I have unstoppable curiosity and can always bring new ideas to the table.

One of my personal visions is to leave a legacy and teach my accumulated knowledge to my children(s) and next generation(s). To achieve that, my mission is by not neglecting my growth, continuously train outstanding developers, and deliver consistent uncompromising high-quality result.
